

Arts and Crafts Antique Serving Table, c.1880

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 10.1018

This is a large antique serving table in pitch pine.

Substantial and honest this arts and crafts serving table has Pugin overtones with gothic revival style and artisan simplicity in the construction and design.

The pitch pine has an almost golden hue and is decorated with the most simple of carvings. The eight solid legs join the stretcher rails and apron with pegged joints. Shaped brackets offer further stability and create the 'arch' shaped windows between the legs giving it an almost ecclesiastical altar table aesthetic.

Dating to circa 1880 this piece is as solid as the day it was constructed and serves great purpose as a serving table although it would equally well work as a kitchen island or anywhere where a strong, stable surface is required.

Superb quality and a stunning piece presented in excellent antique condition. Solid joints and construction. Delivered waxed & polished.
