

Antique Revolving Music Stool, English, Walnut, Piano, Charles Wadman, C.1880

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 18.7384

This is an antique revolving music stool. An English, button upholstery and walnut recital or dressing stool by Charles Wadman of Bath, dating to the Victorian period, circa 1880.

- Music stool of fine quality from the Aesthetic period
- Displaying a desirable aged patina and in very good order
- Traditionally stuffed and buttoned velour upholstery in an attractive green
- Select walnut frame offers fine grain interest and rich caramel hues
- Comfortable cushion revolves through an adjustment range of 10.5cm (4.25")
- Dressed to the lower edge with quality golden brocade trim
- Tiered apron supporting the cushion bears the maker's mark to centre for Charles Wadman of Bath

Wadman of Bath

- Engraved serial number to the reverse - 7673
- Riser mechanism with rotary lock situated within the elegantly carved central column
- Each of the four turned and tapered legs united by short stretcher to the support
- Splayed toes encircle a delightful carved drop pendant finial

Search London Fine for #18.7384 , or scan the QR code for more photos and details

DIMENSIONS

Max Width: 38cm (15")
 Max Depth: 38cm (15")
 Lowered Height: 50cm (19.75")
 Raised Height: 60.6cm (23.75")
 Adjustment Range: 10.5cm (4.25")

LIST PRICE

£825.00

