

Antique Davenport, Edwardian Tilt Top Desk

DESCRIPTION

Our Stock # 10.1464

This is an antique, Edwardian davenport dating to the early 20th century, c.1910.

Raised on the original ceramic castors and slender tapered legs, the front legs slightly swept, this fine example displays good grain detail and a smooth waxed finish.

Expertly inlaid with garland and vase motif to the cupboard door, drawer front and stationery lid, panels are framed with boxwood stringing. The writing surface features a gold, twin tooled olive skiver.

The writing surface raises from horizontal and locks to a sloped angle for comfort and a button to the rear releasing it again. To the rear a lid lifts to reveal a stationery compartment complete with a removable pen tray, four compartments and a pair of glass ink wells with onyx lids.

Beneath the top a single, full-width frieze drawer is dressed with elaborate brass handles with further storage in the cupboard below behind working lock and key.

Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
